Subject: Microsoft Settlement

Dear Sir or Madam,

I've been using computers for more than 20 years and was one of the first to use Internet Browser. I have never paid a penny for a browser even when Netscape was the only company that made production version browser.

I don't think it's right for Netscape and then AOL to go to our government to seek legal remedy for their bad business strategy. I think an internet browser should always be free as File Explorer has always been because with the current technology trend they are indistinguishable. Imagine paying extra for DIR command on DOS or ld command on Unix.

In my conclusion, I wish that AOL lawsuit will not interfere with the current Microsoft Settlement and the lawsuit will be dismissed.

Sincerely yours,
Steven The
